

Partners in Policymaking - Partners Online

Do you want and need to understand more about personalisation in health and social care?

Do you want to work with professionals to get what is right for you or your relative who needs support?

The Partners Online course is a family leadership programme, it's a journey of understanding information, rights and how to work well with the health and social care system.

The course will bring people who need support, family, carers and voluntary sector organisations and practitioners to learn together and make key changes in order that people get a life rather than simply a service.

The benefits

- Create a network actively working in co-production together to help positive change happen where you live.
- Give participants an understanding of history, images of what is possible and how change happens within a national context.
- Increase and engage people to have different conversations about what and how personalisation works.
- Unite people together to support, learn and share with each other.
- Give real grounded information, advice and support to people around the current health and social care agenda.
- Give a good mix of inspiration and information around all the most relevant up to date models, theories and policies.

Partners Online

You will have the chance to meet other people who are leaders, and who have become national champions.

You will be connected with a strong network of people who provide support and who work across the country.

You will hear from speakers who have expertise and passion on issues that are relevant and practical.

Tell me more....

The Partners Online course is a family leadership programme made up of nine online 'Zoom' sessions which will run from September to December 2022, 10am to 2.30pm. Plus 3 evening sessions with colleagues from the US who created several person-centred approaches.

The course will cover:

- Changing perceptions; why things are the way they are
- Tools & theories for change such as person-centred planning, support planning, asset based real wealth and community inclusion
- Creating strong peer support, action planning and working co-productively
- Knowing what's out there, food for thought to influence policy by offering solutions not problems
- Theory of change management and culture change and how they work in practice
- Developing ideas, tools and opportunities that leave a lasting legacy

You will need to commit to ALL of these dates:

7th September 22

14th September 22

28th September 22

12th October 22

26th October 22

9th November 22

23rd November 22

7th December 22

14th December 22

Who should apply for the course?

Direct recipients of social and health care, those who love them and professionals and practitioners, people receiving support, families, statutory services, professionals and voluntary sector. The main criteria must be a positive will to work for change for people to have a good life.

To find out more and for an application form contact:

Wendy Kellett admin@in-control.org.uk

Or from HERE